The men understood. The brakeman thought he was coming east on the Mich-

one dead for the next five minutes, and a watcher felt for his pulse to see if life had gone out. A tag going down the river sounded her whistle loud and long, and the dying brakeman opened his eyes and called out;

"Ann Arbor!"

He had been over the road a thousand times, but had made his last trip. Death was drawing a special train over the old track, and he was brakeman, engineer, and conjuctor.

Influence of the Granges From the New York Son we extract

the following remarks of the worthy lec turer of the National Grange at an entertainment given by the Knickerbocker Grange, No. 154, of the Patrons of Husbandry. He said:

"American farmers, until recently, have panies; and more than half of the eleva-pames; and more than hair of the eleva-tors and warehouses in Iowa and Wis-consin are under our control. Furthermore, we have agents in every section of the coun-try, to whom we ship our products, and from whom we receive forty or fifty per cent, more than those we used to get from local buyers. In consequence of the Past Master Wright, of California, author of the "Declaration of Purposes of

in which he said:
"I hereby indorse what our worthy lecturer has said. The Grange movement began in California two years ago, yet we have accomplished some importation behalf of agriculture. Our State Grange was formed when there were only 4,500 subordinate granges in the whole country. We now have 243 subordinate granges, with a membership of 20,000. We have saved between $4,000,- of 20,000. We have saved between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. The Grangers have also brought neighbors together who, although living only a few miles apart, were almost strangers. We have the "Grangers' Bank of California." with a capital of $5,000,000, which is doing good service, and the "Farmers' Fire Insurance Company." which insures our property at one-thurd of the former rates. We are completing a business association on a basis of $1,000,000. We do not expect

The name of Lafitte, one of the most eminent of French bankers, is almost as familiar, in the history of his times, as that of his cotemporary, the first Napoleon. It is not generally known, however, that he rose from the most abject obscurity to the topmost pinnacle of financial power by his habit of prudence, unconsciously exhibited in a trivial matter, on an occasion in his youth, when his prospects were indeed dubious. When a mere lad Lafitte went to Paris, and, poor and modest, timid and anxious, ventured to offer his services at the banking house of Perregeaux, who occupied the elegant Gurmard palace. The banker informed him that there were no vacancies then, none were likely to soon oc-

The Bulletin. He had been sick at one of the hoteleur, and advised him to look elsewhere.

Disappointed, the youthful seeker for employment left the office; and while, with a dejected air, he traverses the stately court-yard, he stooped to pick up a pin which lay in his path, and which he carefully stuck in the lappel of his ceat.

From the windows of his cabinet, Perregeanx had observed this movement, and not indifferently. He was, in fact, one of those keen observers and quick interpreters of human actions, who estimate the value of circumstances apparently trivial in themselves, and which would pass immoticed by the majority of mankind. In this simple action he saw the revelation of a character—a young man who would thus painstakingly pick up a pincould not fail to make a most valuable clerk. In the evening of the same day, Lafitte, to his utter astonishment, received a line from the great banker, stating, briefly, that a place had been made for him as elects, of which he might take possession the next morning. The anticipations of the banker were not disappointed. The youth exhibited every desirable quality for the place. From a simple clerk, he soon rose to be cashier, then partner, then head of the first banking house in Paris; and afterwards, in rapid succession, a deputy, and president of the council of ministers—the highest point of honor to which a citizen could aspire. Rarely have riches come into better hands—rarely has a banker or prince He had been sick at one of the hotels for three or four weeks, and the boys on the road had dropped in daily to see how he got along, and to learn if they could render him any kindness. The brakeman was a good fellow, and one and all encouraged him in the hope that he would pull through. The doctor didn't regard the case as dangerous, but the other day the patient began sinking, and it was seen that he could not live the night out. A dozen of his friends sat in the room when night came, but his mind wandered, and he did not recognize them. wandered, and he did not recognize them.

It was near one of the depots, and after the great trucks and noisy drays had ceased rolling by, the bells and the short, sharp whistles of the yard-engines sound-ed painfully loud. The patient had been very patient for half an hour, when he suddenly unclosed his eyes and shouted: "Kal-a-ma-zoo!"

A horse or cow will be literally covered with them at night; in the morning the animal will be found dead and swelled to an enormous size. The bite is very poisonous, and the wound quickly festers. Cattle owners find that the most effective way of protesting their minerals is to cover them. tecting their animals is to cover them with a coating of diluted tar, but if that cannot be done fires are built and the smoke drives off the insects. Amongst the wild animals, especially the deer, on the Arkansas side of the river, the rayages of the guat are everywhere apparent. Without any protection, the deer fall victims in large numbers to this potsonous insect, which, however, does not

WELLINGTON, 1 orain Co., O., Aug. 24, 1874 DR. R. V. PTERCZ, Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir — Your medicines, Golden Medical Discovery, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, Dear Sir — Your medicines, Golden Medical Discovery, Dr. Sage's Catarth Remedy, nave proved of the greatest service to me. Six months ago, no one thought that I could possibly live long. I had a complication of diseases—scrofule, manifesting itself in cruptions and great blotches on my head that made such soresthat I could not have my hair combed without causing me much suffering; also causing swollen glands, tonsils eniarged, eniarged or "thick neck," and large and numerous boils. I also suffered from a terrible Chronic Catarth, and in fact I was so diseased that life was a burden to me. I had tried many doctors with no benefit. I tinally procured one-half dozen bottles of your Golden Medical Discovery and one dozen Sage's Catarth Remedy and commenced their use. At first, I was badly discouraged, but after taking four bottles of the Discovery, I be gan to improve, and when I had taken the remaining I was well. In addition to the use of the Discovery, applied a sciution of loding to the Golire or thick neck, as you advise in pamphlet wrapping, and it entirely disappeared.

or thek neck, as you saying in pamphlet wrapping, and it entirely disappeared. Your Discovery is certainly the most wonderful blood medicine ever invented. I thank God and you, from the depths of my heart, or the great good it has done me.

Very gratefully,

Mas. L. Chapper.

Most medicines which are advertised as blood purifiers and liver medicines contain either mercury in some form, or potassium and iodine variously combined. All of these agents have strong tendency to break down the blood corpuseles, and debilitate "American farmers, until recently, have ignored the principle that is moving the world—the principle of association. Their individualization was the cause of their subjection to almost every other interest. Six years ago no manufacturers dealt with us directly; no elevators or warehouses were owned by us, and no banks or insurance companies were controlled by us. Now, in one State alone, there are thirty-eight fire insurance companies; and more than halt of the elevaand iodine variously combined. All of these agents have strong tendency to break down the blood corpsueles, and debilitate and otherwise permanently injure the human system, and should therefore be discarded. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, on the other hand, being composed of the fluid extracts of native plants, barks and roots, will in no case produce injury, its effects being strengthening and curative only. Sarsaparilla, which used to enjoy quite a reputation as a blood putifier, is a remedy of thirty years ago, and may well give place as it is doing, to the more positive and valuable vegetable alteratives which later medical investigation and discovery has brought to light. In Scrofula or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goltre, Scrofulous Inflammations, In ident Inflammation, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin and Sore eyes as in all other blood diseases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has shown its great remedial powers, curing the mestobstinate and intractable cases. Sold by all dealers in medicines. from local buyers. In consequence of the fairness of our treatment by these agents, who are bound by the ties of brotherhood and heavy money bonds, the Patrons of Husbandry saved $5,000,000 in 1873, $12,000,000 in 1874, and, according to present indications, will save at least $20,000,000 in 1875. Six years ago there were ten granges; the next year there were thirty-eight; the next, thirty-nine; the next 10,000; the next 20,000. Now there are fifteen granges joining our ranks daily, and we number 1,500,000. Our experience is pointed proof that women are worthy members of every union. We have 400,000 of them among us, and we ought to be qualified to give an opinion
